Location	Novomoskovsk, Dnipropetrovsk region, Ukraine
Population	70 000
Short overview (1-5 sentences)	Novomoskovsk is a small, picturesque and cozy city, located on the banks of the left tributary of the Dnieper - the Samara River. It has a population of 70,000 inhabitants. The city has a long history - the Zaporizhian Cossacks founded it in the 16th century, in 1794 the city was renamed Novomoskovsk. Convenient location of the city, a combination of transit automobile, railway and water transport routes, a short distance to the airports - all this make Novomoskovsk an attractive place for both leading business and living. Logistically, our city connects the industrial part of the country with the European direction: the route of the so-called "New Silk Route", connecting the Chinese market with the EU, goes through Novomoskovsk.
